Volunteering Opportunity:

The Diocese of Hexham and Newcastle Justice and Peace Co-ordinating Council would like to expand its current management group for the Justice and Peace Refugee Project (JPRP) which is based in Summerhill Square, Newcastle.

We welcome interest from anyone who would like to volunteer and hope that overall the new team will be able to assist the Co-ordinating Council in ensuring the safe and smooth running of the project and work to:

The current management group is meeting monthly, although the aim would be to meet every two months at a time and venue to be negotiated.

For more information, to visit the project or to discuss the full remit of the management group please contact John Dowling, Project Manager of the JPRP on 07427837813 or Liz Archibald, Justice and Peace Coordinating Council on 07910578310.

Quotes on This and That

On being right or wrong – “I don’t have all the answers. Nor do I have all the questions. I confess that, in general, because of my temperament, the first response that occurs to me is usually the wrong one...it’s curious but that’s the way it is with me.”

ON Choices – “Each day we face the choice to be Good Samaritans or to be indifferent travellers passing by.”

On being chosen as Pope – “As you know, the duty of the Conclave is to give Rome a Bishop. It seems that my brother cardinals went almost to the end of the world. But here we are,”

On Schools – “the essential function of the school is to form free citizens with the capacity to defend their rights and to comply with their obligations.”

Pope Francis

“When wishes are few, the heart is happy.”

“Treat others with justice and respect. In the long run, how you treat others is how they will treat you.”

A hug delights and warms and charms
Which must be why God gave us arms
